

Writing & Art Challenge

OPEN TO MIDDLE SCHOOL & HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

SUBMISSION DEADLINE: FEBRUARY 17, 2026 (5:00PM)

ABOUT THE EVENT

The Writing and Art Challenge was created, in 2018, by the Montgomery County Women's Center as an avenue for teens to start talking about dating & relationships. It is meant to create a safe environment to explore and discuss the impacts (both positive and negative) of common dynamics found in these experiences. Montgomery County Women's Center has been proudly serving Montgomery and surrounding counties for over 40 years. Our mission is to lead the effort in preventing domestic violence and sexual assault through crisis intervention, assistance, advocacy, empowerment, and social change.

NEED HELP GETTING STARTED?

No Problem!! We have created this document to help you get started on your journey to creating your submission for the Writing and Art Challenge. In this packet you will find writing/ brainstorming prompts and a compilation of really amazing OUTSIDE THE BOX ideas that can be incorporated into the delivery of your message for both writing and art submissions.

REALLY think about what is going to set your piece apart from the others. How will yours be different? We are challenging you to think outside the box!! If you are submitting a writing piece, you can still have a creative component to it. Think about what will make your submission POP!--It's all about the delivery!

THINK ABOUT...

- Sometimes in relationships we emphasize making someone happy at the expense of our own well-being. Write about the importance of being "real" in relationships and loving yourself first. There is nothing better than loving yourself and being loved for who you are! Write about the things you think no one should have to give up- or pretend to be- to make a relationship work. How does knowing yourself and your boundaries improve your self-esteem? How does ignoring or hiding your boundaries hurt your self-esteem?
- When one person in a relationship makes most of the decisions or doesn't respect the other person's space or boundaries, it is hard on the relationship. Write about how a relationship is better when both people feel equally valued. Brainstorm a list of things that are stronger when they are valued equally, more beautiful when coordinated, or more delicious when in equal amounts.
- Trust builds over time, and once it is broken, it takes time to repair. Write about a moment in time when you built or rebuilt trust with someone you were dating or someone close to you. Write about how you feel when you trust and are trusted, or how it feels when you don't trust, or aren't trusted. How does it impact your relationship with others and yourself? See if you can compare trust to something in nature that is dependable and eternal, like the sunrise; or, see if you can compare distrust to something in nature that can be erratic and destructive, like a forest fire.
- Most of us admire at least one romantic relationship where both partners know how to communicate clearly, listen actively, resist inappropriate social pressures and negotiate conflict constructively. Write about how these qualities make a relationship real. Everyone knows that good communication is satisfying and helpful, and bad communication is frustrating, even painful.
